Packing Guide

Items of Extraordinary Value

All items in your shipment, which are considered to be of extraordinary value, must be identified. You must advise your van line agent in writing that they are in your shipment. These items are defined as items having a value greater than $ 0.60 per pound per article.

For example:

- Antiques
- Crystal
- Precious Stones or Gems
- Art Collections
- Currency
- Silver and Silverware
- Cameras
- Figurines
- Video Cameras
- Computer Software
- Furs
- Coin Collection
- Oriental Rugs

If you include items of extraordinary value in your shipment, a High Value Inventory sheet must be completed and signed by you prior to your move. In the event of a claim, any settlement is limited to the valuation you declare for the entire shipment. If you fail to list all extraordinary value items and/or fail to sign the High Value Inventory sheet, the van line liability for loss of or damage to those items will be limited to no more than $0.60 per pound per article, based upon the actual weight of the article (does not apply to shipments under the "basic carrier liability" option).

You must declare the total amount of the released value that you declare for your goods. This total should include the value of items, including all items of extraordinary value. Record the total value on the bill of lading. Please note that the protection for items of extraordinary value is not available for shipments, which are released to the van line's value of 60 cents per pound per article (basic carrier liability option).

Items Not To Pack:

Read this section before doing your own packing and loading. It is important that you understand which items you can and cannot ship. There are rules and regulations that govern all movers to help ensure safety. There are also items you should not pack yourself, for example you may need professionals to pack up your exercise equipment correctly. The following list serves as a guide only on what not to pack. If you have any specific questions contact your mover.

Flammable, corrosive or explosive items:

- Acid / Gasoline Poisons / Charcoal / Lighter Fluid
- Fertilizer / Paints / Car Batteries / Matches
- Nail Polish & Remover / Ammunition / Liquid Bleach / Stern
- Aerosols / Kerosene / Pool Chemicals / Chemistry Sets
- Fireworks / Pesticides / Motor Oil / Paint Thinner
- Batteries / Loaded Weapons / Weed Killer / Ammonia
- Lamp Oil / Propane Tanks / Cleaning Fluid

Dispose of perishables such as food and plants that may die or spoil in transit. You should empty your refrigerator and freezers for at least 24 hours before loading. Keep the appliance doors open so the appliance will dry out and prevent the growth of mold and odor. The van line agent may agree to transport perishables if they are properly packed and require no servicing in transit and the shipment delivery is less than 150 miles and within 24 hours.

Some articles are not accepted for transportation. The van line agent assumes no responsibility should these items come into his/her possession without his/her knowledge. Although these articles do not create a physical threat, it can create problems if your shipment is delayed or items lost. This can be avoided if all irreplaceable, sentimental items are carried with you.

For example:

- Address Books / Files / Personal Video Tapes
- Air Line Tickets / Financial Statements / Photos and Albums
- Car Keys Furs Research Projects
- Bond /Deeds/Tax Records / School Records
- Check Books / Jewelry / Sterling Silver
- Coins / Letters / Stocks / Stamp Collection
- Computer Software/Disks / Medicine
